Article 7: Insurance & liability

DDMC is liable during the event for all that is reasonably predictable by a professional agent.

DDMC will however not be liable for any force majeure. Force majeure means any event or condition which prevents in whole or in material part the performance by DDMC of its contractual obligations or which makes it so difficult or costly as to make the performance of such obligation commercially impossible.

Without limiting the foregoing, the following shall constitute events or conditions of force majeure: natural or health disaster ( and or lockdowns, travel restrictions, ...), abnormal weather conditions such as sudden and/or heavy snowfall or rainfall or heavy fog, thunderstorms, strikes, lockouts, prolonged shortage of energy supplies, closed – or heavily restricted access to – airports and railway stations, explosion, riots, terroristic attacks or threats, war, faults or shortcomings of subcontractors that could not be reasonably foreseen by DDMC, acts or omissions by third parties, cancellations or late arrivals by speakers and/or guests, etc.

In a case of force majeure, DDMC may decide to cancel the event partly or wholly without liability whatsoever to any Partner.

DDMC does all in its power to fulfil its contractual obligations and satisfy the participant's requirements. However, it can only be bound by a best-endeavors obligation.

Article 8: Jurisdiction

Any dispute relating to the signature, validity, interpretation and/or performance of the present General Terms and Conditions falls within the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of the judicial district of Brussels. Only the Belgian law shall apply in all relations between DDMC and the participant.
